Operations of Recalcitrant Rebel and His Forces Now Worrying Washington Officials More Than Any Other Phase of Mexican Situation; President Cabajal Does Not Think City of Mexico Is Endangered.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—The possible operations of General Zapata and his forces are now worrying the officials here more than any other phase of the situation in Mexico.

The state department was advised today that Zapata and his troops are getting dangerously close to the City of Mexico.

In the meantime General Carranza is now attempting to bring all the Constitutional military operations under one head, instead of three as had been originally decided upon in the plans for marching upon the Mexican capital.

PRESIDENT CARBAJAL DOES NOT FEAR ZAPATA

CITY OF MEXICO, July 20.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—Provisional President Carbajal has ordered the wrecked gap in the railroad between here and Vera Cruz to be closed at once, to facilitate communication between this city and Vera Cruz.

The damage to the line attempted by General Zapata and his forces is reported to have been only slight.

President Carbajal stated today that he considered that an attempt on the part of Zapata and his troops to force an entrance to the capital is unlikely.

SEVENTH CASE OF PLAGUE IN SOUTHERN CITY

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—The seventh case of bubonic plague in New Orleans was discovered here yesterday. The sufferer is a girl eighteen years of age.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—The naval affairs committee, it is learned, has arranged to examine the records of the Navy officers who were recently retired by the plucking board. This will be done today, with a view, it is stated, of basing the committee report on the reinstatement bills now pending.

PARIS, July 20.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—The balloon "Toto," contesting for the Grand Prix yesterday, collided with the trees in the Tuileries, wrecking the balloon and injuring the pilot and his aide. Several persons were hurt in the panic which followed the accident.

Twenty Thousand Rounds Are Being Sent Into Mexico Daily.

EL PASO, Texas, July 20.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—An average of twenty thousand rounds of cartridges is being smuggled across the Texas border into Mexico daily. This was admitted by the military authorities here yesterday. Despite the fact that the United States has troops on duty along the entire length of the border, and especially from Brownsville, Texas, to Nogales, Arizona, the smugglers seem to have but little difficulty in getting the ammunition across. The army patrol, it is admitted, is apparently powerless because of the war department regulations. The war department is being received by Villa forces and Federal irregulars on the Mexican side of the line.

One Person Injured When Car Driven By Unlicensed Chauffeur Is Wrecked.

A party of joyriders in automobile 1081, driven by Herman Ladd, at three o'clock yesterday morning narrowly escaped being seriously injured when the car crashed into a telephone pole at Beretania and Punchbowl streets.

As a result of the accident, Fritchie Terrell, one of the occupants of the car, is in the Queen's Hospital, suffering from several cuts about the head and face. According to Motorcycle Officer Fozzy, who made an investigation of the accident, the car was being driven at a high rate of speed along Beretania street toward Punchbowl street. The car skidded and crashed into a telephone pole. The occupants, who were Herman Ladd, Fritchie Terrell, W. C. Chan and Edwin Serinton, were thrown to the street. Aside from the injuries sustained by Terrell, the party escaped with a severe shaking up. The car was a complete wreck.

Upon investigation it was found that Ladd, the driver of the car, had not gone through the necessary formalities of getting out a driver's license. As it is contrary to the city ordinance, Ladd was booked at the police station yesterday morning by Police Captain Kahua. This case will be heard before Judge Monseratt this morning.

GENERAL W. E. BRETON DIES IN ENGLAND

The death on June 5, 1914, of General William Edwards Breton, M.D., late inspector general of Hospitals and Fleets, Royal Navy, is announced in the Hampshire, England, papers of June 12, 1914. He died at Langrich, near Petersfield, Hampshire, after a lingering illness of a year, following an operation.

General Breton's widow was a Honolulu girl at the time of her marriage to the then Doctor Breton, who was serving on the Pacific station in H. M. S. Amphion between 1889 and 1891. She will be remembered by the old Honolulu residents as Miss Maude Du-dot, daughter of one of the oldest families in the Hawaiian Islands.

General Breton entered the British Navy in 1874, and served in all parts of the world. He retired in May, 1908.

The deceased leaves a widow and five sons, two of whom are in the British service.

PINEAPPLE GROWERS IN MAUI FACE PROBLEM

The Maui Pineapple Company will more than double its output this year, the estimate being 100,000 cases as against 46,000 cases last year.

Pine appear to be a drug in the market at present. They have been offered at $3.50 per ton with no buyers. Those of the pine growers who are protected by contracts are receiving the contract price, but the independent growers are up against it. They will be forced to throw up the sponge and engage in some other business. Wilson's tariff bill and an over-production of the fruit are given as the causes for the present deplorable situation.—Maui News.

DEATH CLOSES AN ACTIVE LIFE

F. W. Dohrmann Prominent in Commercial Activity in California and Hawaii, Is Dead.

(From Monday Advertiser.)
Emil A. Bernitt, of W. W. Dimond & Company, yesterday received a cable from San Francisco announcing the death at that place of F. W. Dohrmann, president of the Dohrmann Commercial Company, of which the store of W. W. Dimond & Company is a part.

Mr. Dohrmann was well known in Honolulu, having visited here often. A year or more ago he was a guest of the Commercial Club here. He addressed the club at that time. His subject, "The Honor of My City Is Mine," was considerably discussed at the time because of the spirit of local pride which he breathed.

During the latter part of last April Mr. Dohrmann returned to Honolulu, coming here to recover from the shock attending the death of his wife a few weeks previous. Soon afterward, however, his physician advised him that it would be necessary for him to return to San Francisco at once and undergo an operation. He left here on May 9 last. Mr. Dohrmann was in the hospital for a month following the operation. He was recovered sufficiently to leave the hospital about three weeks ago. He seemed to have lost hope, however, and was melancholy, until the end finally came last Saturday. The funeral arrangements are not announced.

Deceased was a native of Germany and would have been eighty-two years old had he lived until next December. He is survived by three sons, all grown and occupying important positions in the commercial life of San Francisco. Mr. Dohrmann played an important part in the business affairs of the West. For fifty-four years he made his home at San Francisco. The Dohrmann Commercial Company, of which he was president, was the holding company of ten syndicate stores, of which the store of W. W. Dimond & Company at Honolulu is one, and the Nathan Dohrmann Company of San Francisco another. In addition he was president of the San Francisco Emporium and the St. Francis Hotel Company.

During the period of the San Francisco disaster he was head of the Red Cross work there as the personal representative of President Taft. Last year he was reappointed to direct this work during the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Mr. Dohrmann, though the organizer of the San Francisco Merchants' Association, always preferred to be known as the discoverer of the organization, of which he was honorary president at the time of his death. He also was organizer of the Honolulu Merchants' Association, which was organized here fourteen years ago.

Many Attend Impressive Memorial Services Held at Kawaia- hao Church.

(From Monday Advertiser.)
Memorial services in honor of the late Miss Ida Pope were held at Kawaiahao church yesterday afternoon. The services were under the direction of the alumnae of the Kamehameha School, comprising many former pupils of Miss Pope who for twenty years or more was connected with the school and Kawaiahao seminary.

Kawaiahao church was crowded almost to capacity when the services started at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, many of the best-known residents of the Territory being present to pay tribute to the memory of one who had done much for educational work in this Territory.

Singing and music were made the leading features of the services. Rev. H. H. Parker, for more than half a century pastor of Kawaiahao church, presided. He was assisted by Rev. J. E. Hopwood, Rev. W. H. Poni, Rev. H. K. Poepe and Rev. A. Akana.

Miss E. C. Gattfield officiated as organist. Dr. French was violinist. President Webster of the Kamehameha school, tribune among the present. A number of the trustees also were present. Among them were W. O. Smith, Alfred Judd, W. B. Castle, Rev. W. B. Olsen, Theodore Richards and U. Thompson.

LESS WHISKEY AND MORE BEER IN 1913

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Americans drank less whiskey during the last twelve months than they did the year before, but they consumed more beer and smoked a great many more cigarettes.

Reports to the internal revenue commissioner, made public today, showed that despite the fact that the year just closed totaled $864,669 less than for the previous year, and most of this decline was due to the marked falling off in tax collected on distilled spirits. Detailed statements for the month of June are not yet available, but in the first eleven months of the fiscal year there was a decrease of $4,734,857 in the income from the manufacture and sale of distilled liquor, due in part to reduction in the number of licenses.

Receipts from tobacco taxes show an approximate increase over last year of $2,800,000. This gain is due almost entirely to a phenomenal increase in the cigarette trade. The gain in receipts from fermented liquor, beer, ale and the like, was about $500,000.

BURIED CITY DISCOVERED BY CHANCE

Few Coppers Were Incentive That Prompted Old Peruvian Guide to Lead Doctor Hiram Bingham and Fellow Explorers to Site of Machu Picchu, Long Forgotten
Sacred Stronghold of the Incas.

Machu Picchu, the long-buried and forgotten sacred city of the Incas, was discovered by the merest accident and as a result of offering an old native guide a few extra coppers if he could lead the explorers to some "new" ruin. This statement was made Saturday by Dr. Hiram Bingham of Yale, the celebrated discoverer of the buried city. Doctor Bingham, with his family, is in Honolulu visiting his home, having just returned from the Peruvian ruins. He was preparing to take up his lecture work at Yale this fall and later to again enter Southern Peru on the work which already has brought him fame.

Peru a Fertile Field.
Peru has been a fertile field for ethnologists and archaeologists for a hundred years, but their work has been confined to exploration of the arid coastal belt, and the southern border of Lake Titicaca. The museums of the world have been enriched by tens of thousands of relics taken from the buried grounds and the deserted cities of these two regions. Much has been written of the "Incas," that name having been hitherto applied to the ancient inhabitants of Peru as a whole.

As a result of Doctor Bingham's researches it has been determined that the Incas were of a different race from the common people. They were a separate clan, or tribe, who ruled the land, differing from their subjects in stature, build and racial type and superior to them in mentality.

Were a Splendid Race.

They were a splendid race who had built up a great civilization and maintained themselves as the governors, rulers and directors of the thousands of commoners of inferior races who lived but to do the Incas' bidding. This is the race against which the ruthless Spanish invaders waged a war of extermination that lasted 150 years. Then, heretofore their governing class and without leadership, or directing control, the great mass of the common people split up into wandering tribes and groups which disappeared, or lost their identity. These were despoiled, and robbed, and put to the sword, that their treasures should enrich the coffers of Spain.

Of the Incas themselves the Spanish conquistadores left but a memory, a tangled mass of fable and story. The Spanish invaders sought gold and silver and precious stones. The twentieth century invaders who have entered this field of research care very little for buried gold. They are seeking to dig up the history of this splendid race of rulers who built magnificent cities and founded a wonderful civilization in the days of long ago.

The details concerning Dr. Hiram Bingham's discovery of Machu Picchu have been set forth at length in the pages of the National Geographic Magazine. The exploration of this region was conducted under the joint auspices of Yale University and the National Geographic Society. The funds placed at Doctor Bingham's disposal have been largely raised through the personal efforts of Alexander Graham Bell, his two sons-in-law, David Fairchild and Gilbert H. Grosvenor.

Peru Aiding Work.

Doctor Bingham stated Saturday that the present Peruvian government is intensely interested in forwarding all scientific research. It has lent its heartiest cooperation to the work of exploration that is now being carried on.

Machu Picchu was, literally, a forgotten city. The Indians who lived in the valley at its foot knew nothing of it. There is no record of it in any of the Spanish archives. Its discovery was almost pure accident. The city was not even legendary. Simply because he offered to pay any Indian who could show him a ruin a few extra coppers for his pains a guide volunteered to show Dr. Bingham "two old houses" on top of a hill two thousand feet above his hut. Not even this guide knew that instead of "two houses" there was a magnificent city.

Doctor Bingham said that after his engineers had uncovered all these vast ruins and the results of the explorations were made known by maps, the camera, and description, the people of Peru simply went wild with enthusiasm. The Lima newspapers published page after page of descriptions and photographs for several months. Devotes Half His Time to Exploration.

For half of each school year Doctor Bingham delivers his regular course of lectures at Yale. The alternate period he devotes to the Peruvian exploration work so that he has spent two full years in the field in the last four years. He plans to return to New Haven this autumn but will be back in Peru next February.

A field party of seven men, comprising three assistants, three engineers and one surgeon is now at work surveying and mapping an extensive unexplored region in southern Peru which includes valleys containing many glaciers not previously known. Plans have been perfected for a thorough geographical, ethnological and biological survey of this region under the joint auspices of the National Geographic Society, the National Museum and Yale, Harvard and Pennsylvania Universities.

Doctor Bingham stated that his

SINGLE IS NOT BADLY INJURED

Believed That Crack Polo Player,
Who Was Thrown in Exciting Game, Can Return Home.

(From Monday Advertiser.)

Robert W. Shingle who met with an accident during the fourth period of the All-Service versus Oahu polo game at Schofield Barracks Saturday afternoon by being thrown violently from his mount was reported as resting easy at the Haleiwa Hotel last night and despite a bad shaking up it is expected he will be able to come to town today. Lieutenant Shingle, of the Fourth Cavalry and Shingle, the former playing at No. 1 for the army team came together during the fourth period after each had followed the ball through the north goal. In the collision, Shingle was thrown to the ground. While showing evidence of being in severe pain, Shingle gamely remounted his charge and continued playing until the end of the game, even taking part in the ten given by the women of the post later.

Mr. Shingle, accompanied by Mrs. Shingle, proceeded from the barracks to the Haleiwa Hotel where Mr. Shingle complained of pains in the abdomen and chest.

An examination by physicians disclosed the fact that Shingle had struck theommel of the saddle before being hurled to the ground and that this caused the greater part of his injuries. Over the phone last night, both Mrs. Shingle and the clerk of the hotel in speaking for Mr. Shingle, informed The Advertiser that while he was still in considerable pain, Mr. Shingle would be able to come to town today.

ANNUAL COUNTY FAIR FOR HILO

HILO, July 17.—The board of trade has given its indorsement to a plan proposed by Superintendent F. A. Clowes of the Glenwood agricultural experiment station, for a county fair to be held annually in Hilo, the first one to be held fall or in the spring of the coming year. The fair would contain a general exhibit of county products, according to Clowes' plan. President Metzger of the board of trade was instructed to call a meeting for July 28 to discuss plans, and Secretary E. S. Doyo will send invitations to the following: Kohala Civic League, Kona Improvement, county board of supervisors, Hilo Teachers' Union, Hawaii Poultry Association, Hilo Merchants' Association, Hawaii Buttermakers' Association, East Hawaii Cane Planters' Association, Hilo-Puna Cane Planters' Association, Association of Hilo and Hamakua Managers; also the bureau of commissioners of agriculture and forestry, as represented here by Dr. H. B. Elliott, deputy territorial veterinarian, and Brother Matthias, entomological inspector; United States experiment station and the board of health.

PRESIDENT WEBSTER ARRIVES FROM COAST

The newly appointed president of the Kamehameha Schools, Prof. E. C. Webster, and F. L. Griffin, superintendent of shops at the schools, arrived in Honolulu yesterday morning on the Manahua from San Francisco.

Professor Webster was accompanied by his family, and Mr. Griffin by his bride. The new school president has the reputation of being a man of considerable ability as an educator and an executive. He is a close friend of Arthur L. Dean, president of the College of Hawaii.

Mr. Griffin comes direct from the New York normal schools, with recommendations of a high order.

The appointments were recently made by Senator A. F. Judd, after a trip to the mainland to look over the available material.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—Hwang Sing, ex-minister of war of China, who with a party of countrymen arrived here last week on the mission of arousing interest in the new revolution against President Yuan Shih-kai in China, addressed a meeting of his countrymen here last night. Hwang made a fervent plea for the new cause and urged his hearers to do all in their power to aid the impending revolution.

field party is the only scientific expedition that has ever gone out into the wilderness equipped with a complete wireless receiving equipment. Correct observations of longitude depend on exact knowledge of time. The exact time is flashed to the exploring party in two or three times a week so that their trigonometrical observations are more exact than have ever before been made in explorations of this character.

One of the scientific problems to be worked out is the preparation of an accurate geographic cross-section of the Andean mountain chain. Doctor Bingham said that his surveyors have already carried the line up through a pass that lies over 18,000 feet above sea level.

Again referring to the Incas, Doctor Bingham said that so far as all records show these people had absolutely no written language, a circumstance which makes the reconstruction of their history extremely difficult. Nevertheless he believes that the scientific world will know far more about this wonderful clan than even their Spanish destroyers dreamed of, and that, he said, is ample reward for the scientific explorer.

COAST TEACHERS VIEW HALEKALA

Young Women From Mainland
Impressed With Maui Trip; Have Praise for Honolulu.

(From Monday Advertiser.)

Under the guidance of F. C. Weber, fifteen California school teachers who do not object to being described as young and pretty are stopping at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel, having returned yesterday from a trip to Maui. They report a fine trip and a most delightful time. The trip to Maui was made especially to enable the party to see Halekale, and they say they found a sufficient variety of interests to keep them busy every moment. By sailing time they were all so busy that the steamer Claudine nearly got away without them. The captain whistled several times for all aboard, but they had gotten to that frame of mind where they didn't care whether they got left or not, they said. At the last moment, however, they were taken out on a lighter, and put aboard, just missing having no climb a ladder up the ship's side. A couple of the young women professed themselves as entirely willing to have boarded by the ladder route and it had been necessary. Evidently these young women are very much alive and capable Americans who by reason of having to make their own way in the world feel equal to any situation.

Those who were interviewed expressed themselves as having enjoyed their vacation trip to the utmost. Everything was new and novel to them. One thing that surprised them most, they said, was the small number of Americans in business in Honolulu, and the fact that the population consisted so largely of other nationalities.

They were all of one opinion in several matters. The scenery was up to all their expectations, every place they have been. Some of the young women were enthusiastic over the beaches, and stated that Waikiki could not be excelled, and was all they had hoped for. They went wading at Maui, and surfboard riding at Waikiki, and are going to try it again today.

They have tried most of the native articles of food, but have not yet cultivated a taste for poi. Alligator pens were considered good enough for a novelty, while papayas and bananas found first favor, with mangoes running second.

The trip around Oahu by automobile was especially interesting to all members of the party. They familiarized themselves with the pineapple industry by taking in the pineapple field around Wahiawa and going through the packing plant at Lihale.

They say they are most impressed with the hospitality with which they were received everywhere in the Islands and with the fact that the people live so largely outdoors the year around. They had been advised that it was rather too warm in Honolulu for an enjoyable visit during the summer months, but are satisfied that this impression was erroneous. They had only felt uncomfortably warm on one day.

The Misses Weber and Keach are of the opinion that the custom of having a band meet vessels upon their arrival and the manner in which they are given aloha when they depart, was the most beautiful custom they have ever known. Members of the party have made it a point to be at the dock several times when vessels were leaving, and they say they felt and because they were not leaving under such pleasing circumstances, and hope that they could stay and witness it again.

The party leaves tomorrow on the Mauna, and they don't care how many people know about it, because the better send-off they get the more they are going to enjoy it. This party has taken a most intelligent and appreciative interest in everything connected with the Islands, and they say they will all be boosters when they leave. They say they will get together on the return trip, compare notes and review the events of the visit, and try and arrange a story of what a good time they actually had, so that their friends will believe them.

These young women are from California, most of them from the San Joaquin Valley. The party consists of Ethel Lawson, Louise Amesbury, Jessie Brunson, Helen Wagner, Veronica O'Connell, Mrs. Itha Brown, Mrs. Douglas Turner, Ruby O'Connor, Mrs. E. O'Connor, Katherine Gray, Alice Gray, Lily Strain, Mary Hall, Clara Keach, Caroline Wells, E. E. Jewell and F. C. Weber, conductor.

She has the happy combination of exceptional musical ability and of a winning personality that charms and holds her pupils. In writing about her, one of her teachers who knows her work well speaks in the highest praise of her teaching. From University of Minnesota.

Her training has been secured in the University of Minnesota, the excellence of whose music school is well known, and with private teachers. Her best-known teacher is Robert Boies Corwin, one of the leading teachers in the Northwest. She has had teaching experience both in Minneapolis and in Portland, Oregon.

Honolulu is almost like home, for her mother, Mrs. Clara L. Sutherland, and her sister, Mrs. A. E. Arledge and Mrs. A. Hubert Jones, now reside here.

In addition to her position at Punahou, she will be organist in the Methodist Episcopal Church, where she has already begun her service.

HINDUS REPEL POLICE AT VANCOUVER

Undesirable Aliens Aboard Komagata Maru Throw Missiles and Fire Shots at Officers of Law Who Are Prevented From Boarding That Vessel; Several Officers Injured; Militia and British Tars May Be Called to Aid.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, July 20.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—The chief of police, several inspectors and detectives and scores of other members of the Vancouver police department were injured, some of them seriously, early this morning when they attempted to board the steamer Komagata Maru and force the withdrawal of the vessel and its undesirable cargo of Hindus beyond the three-mile limit.

The Hindus, who have been belligerent since the arrival of the Komagata Maru, met the officers with a shower of coal and iron and after continued fighting succeeded in repelling the boarding tug. Some of the Hindus were armed with revolvers, and fired at the officers, but no one was shot. The officers did not return the fire.

The Ottawa government has given the immigration authorities power to call the militia and to use the sailors from the cruiser Rainbow if necessary to enforce their demands. The Hindus are to be deported on the steamer Empress of Japan if the Komagata Maru is unable to sail promptly. Another attempt to move the vessel is to be made this morning.

Her Interests Menaced By Neighbor's Partiality for France and Russia.

BERLIN, July 4.—German politicians are considerably worried at the news from Paris that President Poincare, on his return from St. Petersburg next month, will pay a visit to the King of Sweden at Stockholm. It is feared here, not without reason, that this visit, official and formal as it seems, will be of considerable political importance, and every one is wondering here who can be done to prevent its having any unpleasant consequences for Germany.

Sweden has long since been friendly with France, but not with Russia, and if President Poincare visits Stockholm on his return from Russia it can be taken that a reconciliation will not be much longer delayed between St. Petersburg and Stockholm. Such reconciliation, of course, would be of great importance, and should be stretched to its widest possibilities, it seems obvious that Sweden would side with the Triple Entente in the event of a great European war.

In case of a naval war a hostile Sweden could make it very unpleasant for the German ports of the Baltic, as the Swedish fleet could easily work havoc on these mostly undefended commercial harbors, thereby clearing the way for Russian action. Of course, Sweden would not do that without compensation, and these Russian frontier rectification on the Russo-Swedish boundary and the passing of regulations concerning the free admission of Swedish students to Russian universities and public schools.

Germany and especially the Kaiser are doing all they can to attract the good will of Sweden, and the extensive participation of the empire in the present exhibition at Malmø, as well as the very cordial reception by the Kaiser of a party of very famous Swedish singers in Potsdam, shows it. Germany cannot overestimate the value of Swedish friendship in case of war, as such friendship would give her complete control of the Baltic, enabling her to send the strongest of her ships to the North Sea.

The coming visit of President Poincare to Stockholm, however, makes an effort of Germany useless. Sweden, like Hungary, will play the game of the Triple Entente in future.

NAVY PROVIDES FOR ENTERTAINING GUESTS

For the first time the Navy Department has a specific fund for entertainment of foreign official guests, the sum of $104,000 having been made available by the recent naval appropriation act for that purpose, with the restriction that it can be expended for official hospitality only in connection with the entertainment of the officers and enlisted men of foreign navies that attend the celebration of the opening of the Panama Canal in response to the President's invitation. It can not be used for any other entertainment, and the appropriation is the result of a careful estimate of the cost of the courtesies that it is proposed shall be extended to the guests from abroad.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR FAMILY.

When you fail to provide your family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at this season of the year, you are neglecting them, as bowel complaint is sure to be prevalent, and it is too dangerous a malady to be trifled with. This is especially true if there are children in the family. A dose or two of this remedy will place the trouble within control and perhaps save a life, or at least a doctor's bill.
